DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

Claims 1-11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Hasegawa 2001/0038740 alone, or in view of Harvey 6284499.

See the prior Office action for the manner in which the art is applied.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 10/22/2007 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

As to the request to forward a properly initialed copy of the PTO-1449: the Office provide such in the Office action of 7/20/2007. Applicant points out that the publication year is the only date provided on the reference: Examiner does not think that this is very relevant – nor does applicant point out any relevance. MPEP 609 explains the requirements for the IDS – and it does not appear that having only the year on the reference is sufficient to overcome the requirements regarding the complete date.

It is argued that Examiner must go beyond establishing that varying the limitation produces some random result – the result must be desirable and worth modifying to one having ordinary skill. The plain reading of Hasegawa is that draw tension control results in something much more than a random result. The Office has made a prima facie showing that the tension would have been obvious. Applicant has not made any showing or assertion that the Hasegawa gets some random result.

Art Unit: 1791

"The law is replete with cases in which the difference between the claimed invention and the prior art is some range or other variable within the claims. [Citations omitted]. These cases have consistently held that in such a situation, the applicant must show that the particular range is critical, generally by showing that the claimed range achieves unexpected results relative to the prior art range." In re Woodruff, 919 F.2d 1575, 1578, 16 USPQ2d 1934, 1936 (Fed. Cir. 1990).

Examiner notes no evidence of unexpected results has been submitted by Applicant.

As to the assertion that Harvey's tension is irrelevant to the Hasegawa tension because Harvey has a solid fiber and Hasegawa has holes: Examiner sees little relevance to the difference. Since Harvey teaches a tension of about 90 grams, it would be a useful first approximation to use a similar tension when drawing with holes. Applicant has given no evidence or rationale which suggests that one of ordinary skill would assume that the tensions should be different. Furthermore, Examiner could see nothing in Harvey which indicates that the preform and fiber are solid - as asserted by applicant.

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
